LETTER FROM NEW MEXICO.

Ohio County Boy Tells of His Trip West.

Sees Great Future for Land Full of Natural Resources.

Editors Republican:—On the 15th day of January we left Owensboro by way of the L. H. & St. L. R. R., changing at St. Louis, we came over the Texas Pacific to El-Paso. After leaving St. Louis the most important cities were Poplar Bluff, Little Rock, Texarkana, Dallas and Fort Worth. Between Fort Worth and El-Paso, there are no towns of any size, although the distance is 635 miles. Most of the country is a dry desert, with nothing growing except Sage Brush and Cactus. We lived at El-Paso almost three months. El-Paso is the gateway to old Mexico and the south West. It is a great railroad center, from which it derives its entire resources.

There is no farming near here, it being a dry desert country. There is a smelter near the city, but no mines, the ore being shipped from New Mexico and Arizona.

The north side of the city is very beautiful, but the south side along the Rio Grande river is rugged and dirty, the buildings are adobes, inhabited by Mexicans.

We went over the river to Juarez several Sundays and once I saw a Mexican Bull fight. It was the most barbarous sight I ever witnessed. All saloons are open on Sunday and all other business houses. I did not like El-Paso, because it is too close to old Mexico and so many Mexicans there it made me feel like I was out of the United States. It is also very dusty and smoky. I went to see Mr. R. B. Stevens while there. He is from Beaver Dam and has been there 17 years having grown very prosperous.

We left El-Paso and arrived at Carrizozo, New Mexico March 27 Carrizozo being about 144 miles north of El-Paso on the main trunk line of the Rock Island railroad. Trains run through from El-Paso to Chicago daily and freight trains are in sight most all the time. There is also a branch running from here to Capitan, a distance of 21 miles. The town is about the center of the valley containing 1,000 square miles. The valley is almost level and very beautiful, not a bush or shrub to be seen except those which have been planted, but the surrounding mountains are covered with pine and cedar which furnish fence posts, lumber and fuel. The valley is surrounded by mountains and at the top of the White Mountains is Nogal Peak, 13,000 feet above the sea level, almost as high as Pikes Peak Col.

The valley is 5,300 feet above sea level. On the west side of the valley (bad Pris (Indiana name meaning bad lands.) It is a lava bed 48 miles long and averages 40 miles wide and is from 20 to 40 feet deep. Nothing can cross it. Far away one can see the crater which years ago sent forth the melted lava over that vast country. It is one of the wonders of the world. The bottom of the crater has never been found, and history gives no account of when it happened.

Carrizozo is in the Western part of Lincoln, Co., and is the youngest and largest town in the county. It was platted less than two years ago and now has population of 1,500. There are three gold and several silver and copper mines as well as iron, and coal mines in the mountains in sight of town. Wild animals such as bears, deer, Wolves and Panthers are plentiful, in the mountains.

I have bought two town lots and filed on 160 acres of Government land. Have built a dwelling and out buildings and fenced the land putting \$300 in improvements, but would not now relinquish my claim for \$2,000. The valley is very fertile and the climate is delightful. The formation of the earth is very strange Geologists estimate it was once a great lake. My well is 75 $\frac{1}{2}$ feet deep and the sand soil seemed to extend all the way down, round stone being mixed with the soil indicating the effect of water currents. The water is clear and cool, but hard with alkali. The railroads cannot use it as the bounds of new gathering will be ruined by alkali ruined the boilers, and they appreciated by the management."

HEARST AGAINST WM. J. BRYAN.

Erstwhile Presidential Candidate Don't Mince Words.

Sends Cablegram from Paris Saying He Won't Support Discredited Democrat Party.

New York, July 17.—A cablegram has been received from William Randolph Hearst in reply to a message from Samuel Gompers, stating that in view of the Democratic stand for labor he would be "an act of the greatest patriotism for the Independence party to endorse the Democratic platform," and urging him not to run a third ticket, as it would elect Mr. Taft. Mr. Hearst's cablegram follows:

HEARST'S CABLEGRAM

"Paris, July 16.—Tell Mr. Gompers that I am not authorized to speak for the membership of the Independence party but according to my personal standards a pure patriotism consists in laboring to establish a new party which will be consistently devoted to the interest of the citizenship, and particularly to advantage and advancement of the producing classes.

"I do not think the path of patriotism lies in supporting a discredited and decadent old party, which has neither conscientious conviction nor honest intention or in endorsing chameleon candidates who change the color of their political opinion with every varying hue of opportunism.

"I do not think the best benefit of laboring men lies in supporting that old party because of a sop of false promises, when the performance of that party while in power did more to injure labor than all the injunctions ever issued before or since.

"I have lost faith in the empty profession of an unregenerate Democracy. I have lost confidence in the ability in the sincerity and even in the integrity of its leaders.

"I do not consider it patriotism to pretend to support that which as a citizen, I distrust and detest, and I earnestly hope the independence party will give men an opportunity to vote for candidates that are both able and honest and for a declaration of principles that is both sound and sincere. (Signed),

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

Long Wait For Depositors.

The Owensboro Messenger says:

There is no probability of an early distribution to depositors of the assets of the Daviess County Bank and Trust Company, assigned, and the Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust Company, in the hands of a receiver. Neither assignee E. B. Anderson nor Receiver Pedley can make distribution of any part of the proceeds until certain preliminary matters are determined, and this cannot be done until the October term of the Circuit Court.

In the case of the Daviess County Bank and Trust Company the principal obstacle is the question of preference of holders of mortgage certificates. Judge Birkhead, of the Circuit Court, has handed down an opinion in the case, holding that mortgage certificates of deposit are not entitled to preference, and that all creditors of the bank must share alike. There has, however, been no order to this effect entered, and the present status of the case does not admit of an appeal. The order will, in all probability, be made final at the October term, and an appeal will be taken by the holders of mortgage certificates to the Court of Appeals. Several months, probably, will be required for a determination of the question by the Court of Appeals, and it is practically certain that the assignee will not be authorized to begin a distribution of the proceeds before the early months of 1909.

In the case of the Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust Company, the master causing delay is whether or not the receiver shall redeem certain notes of the bank rediscouned with other banks, principally the Fifth National Bank, of Cincinnati. This question might possibly be determined at the August term, but this is a criminal term and it is not probable that the court will take up civil matters of great importance at that term. When a ruling of the Circuit Court is finally obtained on

At this point, it is probable that an appeal will be taken to the Court of Appeals or the effort renewed to have the issue removed in the Federal Court.

On the whole, there appears little probability of the depositors of either of the banks receiving anything under a year from this date.

As death was approaching, her mother spoke to her about going through the "Valley of the Shadow of Death," and if she had any fears in regard to the matter. With a loving smile she looked up in her mother's face and replied, "I am prepared ready and willing to go and now I have been preparing for months and years. Call my brothers and sisters that I may tell them good-bye. As they came tearfully to her bedside she threw her arms around them one by one, and kissing them good-bye saying, "Don't weep for me. I am going home. Meet me in Heaven. Tell my schoolteacher and schoolmates good-bye. Tell them to prepare to meet me in heaven." Kissing her partner good-bye she said, "we will meet above. I see Jesus and the angels coming for me" beckoning them with her little hands. "Oh it is so sweet to die and be with Jesus! I am so happy. Take me up mama and give me to Jesus." She then said "all of you gather around my bed that I may see you all once more before I go."

Is The Maintenance of the Hay And Grain Growers Association Which Meets to-morrow

I notice a call meeting of the Grass and Grain Growers to meet at Union School house Saturday July 25 at 1 p.m.

This meeting should be made the most interesting of the season from the fact this part of the produce has not had the consideration it should have had, and the time is certainly ripe for such a meeting as the Hay and Wheat is about ready for the market.

The object of the meeting is to set a fair and equitable price on this product. Which will act as a protection both for the consumer and producer. The consumer will know better how to figure on his business if he knows the price he will have to pay for the product.

The farmer will know better how to run his business by known what his product is worth on the market, and the first market should be made through the producer; based on the price of production for there is not one on earth who knows the price of production better than he.

We don't want an excessive price but one we can live on and meet our demands and not have competition among ourselves, but set a price and stand by it. We only raise one crop a year so we won't have to be in such a hurry to sell. It takes a year to grow the crop it also takes a year to consume it.

Talk it in your locals, on the road side. Send a good delegation from your section yours,

A Sad Death.

Harry King, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. King, Beaver Dam, died of typhoid fever last Saturday night at 10 o'clock, after an illness of twenty-four days. After funeral services conducted by Rev. A. B. Gardner, his remains were interred in what is known as the Smith graveyard near Select, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. The deceased, who was only in the nineteenth year of his age, leaves a father, mother, two brothers and two sisters and many relatives and friends to mourn his death.

In the case of the Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust Company, the master causing delay is whether or not the receiver shall redeem certain notes of the bank rediscouned with other banks, principally the Fifth National Bank, of Cincinnati. MRS. DOUGHERTY ENDS LIFE BY DROWNING.

Arose At An Early Hour Saturday Morning and Stole From The House.

Several times prevented from taking her own life, Mrs. Ida Dougherty, of the Baldwin neighborhood, succeeded Saturday morning in ending her life by drowning herself in a pond a short distance from her home; her body was recovered about half an hour later.

Mrs. Dougherty was about thirty-five years of age. She returned a few days ago from Louisville, where she had been in a hospital for three weeks for her health.

She was thought to be much improved in health and she seemed to be in good spirits. Mrs. Dougherty had several times and she was constantly watched by members of the family to prevent her from carrying out her threat. On Saturday morning she arose early and quietly stole from the house without arousing anyone. As soon as her absence was discovered, Mr. Dougherty immediately to the pond and found trace of his wife. A few minutes later her body was found in the pond.

The reason for her act was on account of ill health. She had suffered for several years and often told her friends that she wanted to die. Besides her husband, one daughter, aged ten years survives her.

A Surprise Dinner.

Mr. Thomas W. Weddell, who was 80 years old Monday and his wife, Mrs. Nancy Weddell, who was 83 years old the day before, were given a very agreeable surprise at their residence near Sulphur Springs, last Sunday by their numerous friends and relatives in the way of a dinner, in honor of their anniversary. Just before the noon hour, by prearrangement, their neighbors, friends and relatives, to the number of seventy-five or a hundred, began to arrive, bringing with them baskets well filled with the best of edibles and when the noon hour had arrived a spread was made in the beautiful grove in front of the residence where Mr. Weddell has lived since his birth, and all enjoyed a bountiful repast. After which Mr. Weddell made a very interesting talk interspersed with tears of gratitude of himself and wife, for the many kindnesses shown them on that occasion.

In the afternoon these venerable old people and these assembled, including sixteen great-grandchildren, were entertained by some select pieces from Mr. Caleb Burwell's graphophone. Mr. Weddell has been a Republican

COMMON SENSE

Leads most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering upon the bottle wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formula, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known, the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examine the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchitis, which you hang your hopes upon, which, if neglected or badly treated, lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use. It requires a length of time to get full benefit. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay or non-professional testimonial. They are not given away to be exchanged with bait sold by all dealers in medicines at reasonable prices.

It appearing to the Board that certain Subdistricts are partly in one party and partly in other counties the chairman of the Board is directed to correspond with officers of such counties and to continue such arrangement temporarily if agreeable with them.

On motion the Board adjourned subject to the call of its chairman.

E. M. WOODWARD, Sec.

The new school law makes many important changes, chief of which is in the election, duties and power of trustees.

Under the new law, a trustee will be elected at the school house in each Subdistrict on the first Saturday in August. The officers of such election will be appointed by the County Board of Election Commissioners, but if the officers appointed fail to act, the voters may on election day select another.

The ballot is a secret one and boxes and ballots will be supplied by the County Clerk to each Subdistrict.

Election notices and petitions have been mailed to every district. These petitions when signed and properly filed with County Clerk will authorize him to print the candidates names on the ballots.

Length of Dreams.

How long do dreams last? A German savant is investigating the matter. A writer in the London Chronicle says: "The dream comes in the few seconds before the awakening and has no relation to time or space. This is clear enough to the man who has never been placed under an anaesthetic for a short while and found time and space eliminated. As an experiment the writer was placed under a whiff of chloroform by a doctor. Then a return of consciousness, the questions of the universe; up through layers of consciousness, with always the feeling, 'Now I have solved it,—and the 'no' and 'yes' alternating through centuries of thought. And then the quizzical face of the doctor—remembered after a million years. How long have I been under? The long have I been under? The experimenter struggled up and saw the doctor with his watch in hand. Ten seconds the doctor said. And the dreamer had been outside time for a time that has no measure.—Chicago News.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arneia Salve;" writes Charles F. Budahn of Tracy, California. "Two 25c. boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at all druggists.

Judge Taft Says Committee Will not Accept From Them.

Has no Fear That Gompers Can Deliver Labor Vote to Any Candidate.

Hot Springs, Va., July 18.—The National Republican Committee will accept no contributions from corporations, said Judge William H. Taft, Presidential candidate of the Republican party to-day and in an interview he also referred to labor prohibition and other questions.

Mr. Taft said that not only would the law of New York State, providing for the publicity of campaign contributions be obeyed by the National Republican Committee but the Federal law prohibiting such contributions by corporations in connection with the election of President, Vice President, representatives or Senators would be obeyed without regard to any question of validity that might arise in respect to any provisions of that law.

Answering questions as to the application of the national law to contributions for the election of Presidential electors, Mr. Taft declared that the law would be obeyed exactly as it was passed by Congress.

As to the right of a labor leader to attempt to influence the votes of members of the organization of which he is at the head, Mr. Taft at first glibly said that that was a question of property upon which he was not sufficiently informed to discuss.

When asked as to his ideas of the power of the leader of a labor organization to throw its vote to one party or another he declared that, in his opinion, it could be predicted that there is no so-called class of the American electorate whose votes could be delivered by its leaders.

He said that after eliminating members of both political parties from a labor organization the expression of a leader might indicate how the remaining uncertain quantity might vote in the election but he declared that just as is the case generally indicating with any so-called class of citizens before expression could be given of the nature of their vote it would be necessary to eliminate the members of one or the other political parties.

The question calling forth this statement referred to President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor but Mr. Taft avoided making any personal reference to Mr. Gompers or any other leader or organized labor.

Asked whether he would have any new remedy to offer for the so-called trust problem in his speech of acceptance he replied that he did not know of anything new that he could add to a question that had been so widely discussed and stated that he would have nothing to say on that matter outside of what he had said at various times in his public utterances.

Mr. Taft's attention was called today to assertion of some journals respecting the liquor interests that he is opposed to prohibition. He replied that he had never publicly discussed the ethical side of prohibition and he took the view, as he understood Mr. Bryan had done that the prohibition issue was not involved in the national campaign.

From what had come to his attention in respect to the representations of these journals he inferred that they had based their statements on speeches he had made in which he criticised the action of some State Legislatures in passing prohibition and other laws without providing the machinery for enforcing them.

Frank B. Kellogg will return here Monday to further discuss with Mr. Taft the features of his speech in relation to the regulation of so-called trusts.

Some Warm-Weather Salads.

"One of the prettiest of the luncheon or supper salads is made by cutting the top from a green pepper, removing the seeds with a knife or a stick—they burn the skin if touched with the fingers—and filling the basket thus made with chicken or lobster salad," says Christine Terhune Herrick in the August Woman's Home Companion.

"Each pepper may be placed on a mayonnaise. Another salad is prepared by hollowing a tomato and filling it with dice of cucumber or peeling a cucumber, cutting it in half lengthwise, scooping out the inside, and replacing this with dice of tomatoes. Serve either tomato or cucumber on a lettuce leaf, and garnish with cucumber ribbons. These are made by shaving the peel from the outside of a cucumber and then slicing this. Take a slice—it should be rather thick—and with a sharp knife cut this in a spiral, as you would pare an apple. The shaving must be very thin, as it is reached ed and only the flesh of the cucumber will serve for the ribbons. Cucumber boats filled with shrimps are a satisfactory dish for a cold supper. Mayonnaise is served with this or good boiled dressing. The cucumbers halved and filled with other sliced or diced cucumber, served on lettuce, garnished with cucumber ribbons and with strips of the scarlet sweet pepper cut very thin, make a good dish."

Directory Fashion.

Women died like flies when their foolish vanity led them to follow the modes of the directorate, even in mid-winter at the end of the eighteenth century.

Their flimsy muslin dresses, worn even in the coldest weather, and their lack of proper underclothing, set up pneumonia and ended in galloping consumption.

Will the women of to-day succumb to so criminal an obedience to the dictates of fashion? It is scarcely likely.

It is not in the least expected that American women, at any rate, will. Their good sense will lead them away from a mode of procedure so suicidal. Nor can they be persuaded to relinquish the charmingly pretty petticoats, with their ruffles of lace and embroidery, that stand to them as the sign of dainty femininity.

They are looking askance at the satin knickerbockers.

"But see the effect of no skirt with a clinging classical evening toilet," says a dressmaker, and your most cherished susceptibilities will not be hurt. Here is a gown of satin charmeuse copied line for line from a faun statue. It swathes the figure revealing the contour of the natural lines so artistically and daintily that the result is sheer beauty. It would be to spoil all were the gown lifted at one side to disclose the sandals shoes and the anklets of gold of footfully fond."

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President,

of New York.
For Member of Congress Fourth Dist.,
DR. DAVID W. GADDIE,
of La Rue County.

Both a two time loser Bryan and Kern will know how to take it gracefully.

Government ownership of Airship may form a good issue for Mr. Bryan in 1912.

There is one thing in common between Hearst and Bryan. They both own their party.

We have searched the Denver platform in vain for any reference to the "third battle" on 16 to 1.

These are days when it behoves a politician to be careful if he is carrying two brands of cigars in his pocket.

To prove that he believes in "free raw material" Mr. Bryan handed some to Tom Johnson and Col. Guffey at Denver.

"Dave" Francis was too wise a bird to undertake to fly along the route over which the Bryan pression is heading.

Col. Guffey has recovered sufficiently from his injuries, received from the steam roller at Denver, to express his fears that Pennsylvania may go Repubican this fall.

Democrats and Republicans are trying to out do each other in their determination for publicity of all campaign contributions but we have heard nothing from the Populists or Progressists.

Is it not about time for a Wattersoan editorial on the "fungus," negro vote? However, we suspect if the negro vote could go to Democracy, it would lose much of its fungustic in the estimation of "Marse Henry."

"How do you folks like the change in the State Administration?"—Hartford Herald. Very well, thank you. However we would like it better if you had left a little "change" in the State Treasury, when we made the change.

It is announced that the Phonograph is to be used to make Mr. Bryan's speeches over the country. Great care should be exercised to prevent mistakes, unless all the old tree silver and anti-imperialism records have been destroyed.

Mr. Hearst announces that he cannot support "chameleon candidate" Bryan and also states that the Democratic party has shown itself dishonest, declaring that while the party was in power it did more harm to labor than all the injunctions ever issued. This is the same Hearst who was supported by the Hartford Herald for the Presidency in 1904.

Now let Mr. Bryan or Mr. Taft come forward with the proposition that no money is to be used in the campaign. Absolutely none. There may be fewer "spell binders" on the raged stump telling their hearers how they love their country and want to help save it. There will be several hundred fat sleek well fed so-called clerks whose services will be dispensed with at the various headquarters of each political party in New York and Chicago. Probably a million flowers will be compelled to undergo the novel experience of staying at home or voting their sentiments, but a selection for President will be made and the Country saved just the same.

A great deal of dissatisfaction has developed among the Democrats of Ohio County over what they call "snap judgement" in the election of a county chairman recently. Mr. G. B. Likens, who has been Secretary of the Committee, was elected to fill out the unexpired term of J. P. Stevens who resigned. It is claimed that only about three members of the Committee attended the meeting, notice of which was never published in the paper as has always been customary. The notices were sent out by the Secretary, Mr. Likens, accompanied by a blank proxy, affixed out in the name of one man and were all voted for Mr. Likens. It was not known by members of the party that so important a matter as the election of a County Chairman was to be taken up at the meeting. It is hinted that the whole scheme was pulled off looking to important party nominations next year.

IS IT POSSIBLE?

A dispatch from Bryan's home, Fairview, published in the Courier-Journal, Friday, contains the following surprising statement:

"One thing is definitely settled and that is that he chairmanship of the National Committee will not go to a Southern man, because of the attitude of the Southerners toward the negroes. Although Mr. Bryan thinks highly of Mr. Ollie James, of Kentucky, and his name was prominently considered for the place the position taken by Mr. James some time ago in favoring the disfranchisement of the negro made his appointment out of the question."

Is this the same party which has ostracized Republicans in the South so many years, because they claimed the negro voted their ticket? Has it come to this? The Democratic candidate for President depending on the negro vote for success. Perish the thought. Are Southern Democrats to be punished because of their "attitude toward the negroes?" "How times do change."

The question naturally arises as to the "attitude" of the Democratic President, should he be elected by the colored vote, toward dividing the offices with them. Are we in danger of a negro Postmaster at Hartford and other politicians in Kentucky? These matters are referred to The Hartford Herald for solution.

HEARST AND BRYAN.

The New York American, owned by William Randolph Hearst, and the most influential paper in New York makes the following sarcastic comment on the nomination of Mr. Kern for the Vice Presidency.

In naming John W. Kern for Vice President, the Democrats selected the personal counsel, the personal friend and the personal choice of Tom Taggart, who dictated his nomination.

In the light of this choice Mr. Bryan's offer to divide the White House with Kern—should he be elected—presents interesting possibilities.

Once in possession of a wing of the White House, Mr. Kern may want to divide it with Mr. Taggart whose natural instinct would prompt him to turn his half of the wing into a gambling house.

At Taggart's trial for running a common gambling house at French Lick Springs Kern was the lawyer for the defense. As Mr. Bryan knew of Mr. Kern's subserviency to Taggart when he permitted him to be his Vice Presidential candidate he probably would see no objection to Taggart's residence in Kern's half of the White House.

With Kern and Taggart in one wing and Bryan and Ryan in the other, acceleration of the national currency might be taken care of without much help from the Secretary of the Treasury or the National banks."

MEET US HALFWAY.

We notice that our esteemed contemporary, The Hartford Herald, this week gives its hearty approval to an editorial from the Hancock Clarion which urges an early primary and the renomination of Circuit Judge Birkhead and Commonwealth's Attorney Ringo for another six year term, to be followed by endorsement by the Republicans thus making their selection unanimous. Now, this is all very nice and these Democratic papers are to be commended for taking such a non-partisan and absolutely fair! position on the question of taking the judiciary out of politics. This is in line with the Republican State platform adopted at Louisville last year. However, the proposition in so far as it suggests endorsement by the Republicans is open we presume for "amendment, commitment or debate." We have a Republican Circuit Court Clerk, Mr. E. G. Barras, who has given the people equally good service as either Judge Birkhead or Mr. Ringo, and his position is no more one in which nobility should govern than the other. Will The Herald agree to give him a clear field and place his name on both ballots? If this is not possible because other counties are affected, we suggest that in as much as this district showed a Republican majority last year, the Republicans be given either the judgeship or Commonwealth's Attorney. If this can be arranged, we think Republicans of Ohio county will join you in this laudable proposition. Now, on the matter of what matter to stand in the way especially when giving us the other place would mean the sacrifice of Mr. Ringo. Even though the Republicans should have to take the Commonwealth's Attorney in order to keep the Master Commissionership at The Herald office where it will always be safely non-partisan (?) we would prefer that the Democrats give us a nominee to support for Judge who would give us at least one jury commissioner in Ohio county in six years.

We do not desire to be understood as treating this matter in anything but a serious way, but The Herald will readily agree that there are any number of details to be worked out before it can be put into execution and we invite it to assist us in bringing about this very much desired result.

Bryan is Unsafe

The New York Times, an independent Democratic newspaper, whose controlling editor and principal owner is a Southern Democrat, Adolph S. Ochs, of Chattanooga in an editorial review of the work of the Denver convention expresses the view that we believe will be generally accepted by the conservative elements of that party that has hitherto refused to follow William Jennings Bryan and that will turn the political tide to William Howard Taft with tremendous force in the Eastern States and will largely influence the result in other States. The Times says in an editorial letter:

We know that public policies, the old and the new alike will be executed by Mr. Taft reasonably, with calmness with sanity. He is less impulsive than Mr. Roosevelt, not given to disturbing utterances, averse to spectacular and ill-judged display.

We know nothing of the kind about Mr. Bryan, for he has not been tried. We do know that his mind is unsteady, his principles unsafe. The country has twice rejected him for that reason. If he at all believes what he says, what he continually preaches to his followers, what he causes to be written in his platforms, his election to the Presidency with the power and the intent to apply his doctrines would be an immeasurable calamity.

The difference between the two candidates is so marked and distinct, so unmistakably clear and it is a difference so vital to the public welfare that the reelection of Mr. Taft and the election of Mr. Bryan would be an appalling evidence of popular delusion.

If Mr. Bryan is satisfied with Mr. Kern nobody else will complain. We are glad that the name of no Eastern Democrat was put on the ticket. Real Democrats from this part of the country with one accord declined the doubtful honor. Judge Gray would have none of it. Mr. Littleton even, said that his conservatism made him unavailable. Mr. Bryan wanted a New Yorker for perfectly obvious reasons, but New York stoutly refused to present a name.

The nomination of an Indiana man is appropriate and congruous.

Life in a Bunk-house.

The Bunk-house, the home "for the rudderless wrecks who drift," is vividly described by Alexander Irvine in the August McClure's. Of a place not far from Chatham Square, where he made his headquarters, he says:

"The entrance to it was a slit in the front block—a long, deep, narrow alley, then as now, indescribably filthy. Over the iron gates at the entrance was the name of the house and the price of some of the beds. The lower floors were filled with ten and twelve-cent bed-cots; the upper floors were bunk dormitories. A bunk is a strip of canvas. For seven cents a night, the lodger gained admission to the dormitory. Once there he might stretch himself on the bunk, or he might take advantage of the floor.

"The covering on the ten-cent bed was changed once a month; if a man wanted toilet accommodations he paid for them elsewhere. This place never had a bath, nor a wash-basin.

"A ten or twelve-cent guest had a wardrobe; it was seldom used but it was there. At the head of each cot stood this tall, narrow receptacle for the clothing and the valuables of the guests, but in the old days wise guests slept in their clothes. I have known of unsuspecting wayfarers who deposited their belongings in the wardrobe, locked it, and hid the key under the pillow, and next morning had to wrap themselves in newspapers or in a borrowed sheet until they could reach a junk-store. The key was safe, but the wardrobe and contents had disappeared."

STRUCK DOWN

WHILE PREACHING.

The Bolt of Lightning came Down

A Flue and Chandelier Striking Divine

John W. M. Fiener has received a letter from relatives in Texas the following interesting story.

A bolt of lightning struck and killed L. S. T. H. Fagan, aged 51 years, a Baptist evangelist, at the little church house at China, about twenty miles west of the city on the Southern Pacific railroad last evening about 9 o'clock just as he was closing the evening's services.

Mr. Fagan had held the services and delivered a sermon. He had asked any one in the congregation who so desired to come forward and join the church as is usual at the close of services and he had stepped down from the small platform and stood directly in front of the pulpit and on the floor of the building. He was directly beneath a chandelier which was attached to the ceiling near a line used in the winter for the stove pipe. One man, a Mr. Yaney, had come forward and taken hands with Mr. Fagan and as instant there came a flash of light and Mr. Fagan fell backward against the pulpit and died instantly.

The bolt of lightning extinguished every light in the church and the shock knocked Mr. Vancy down but otherwise no damage was done to the building and no one else in the church got a shock. The building was not set on fire and the only marks of the lightning was a single, scorching streak across the ceiling near the pine.

The congregation was immediately惊异 by the extraordinary occurrence and as soon as order was obtained the body of the stricken man was easily laid upon benches and remained in the church all night surrounded by those whom he had known and who had loved and respected him.

BUYERS AFTER POOLED TOBACCO.

Said to Have Secured One Million Pounds of the Burley In Pool.

Whether representing the trust, independent manufacturers themselves for speculative purposes tobacco buyers from the adjoining county of Woodford have appeared in Fayette county and have, it is said, approached a number of growers who have their crops in the Equity pool with the view of buying their pooled tobacco offering them Equity prices, and in some instances prices above the Equity scale, to induce them to sell.

Discontented tenants who have not been able to realize in full on their pooled crops, and who are pressed for funds are those, it is stated in most instances approached.

Notice of the operations of these buyers who brought to the attention Wednesday, when a tenant residing on a farm in the western part of the county came to the local Equity office and announced his intention to sell his tobacco which had been pooled along with that of his landlord, claiming that he had not authorized the landlord to pool his part of the crop. The landlord, who was also present, stated that the tenant had authorized him to pool the tobacco. It developed during the controversy that the Woodford county buyers above referred to had made the tenant an offer on his tobacco and the tenant had about decided to sell. The tenant was threatened with an adjunction if he attempted to take his tobacco out of the pool and settle it, and the courts may be called upon to settle the controversy, which is now pending.

There is a law passed by the last legislature prohibiting any person from buying pooled tobacco and providing a penalty for the seller as well as the buyer, but so far as is known it has never been tested and its constitutionality is questioned.

The Woodford county buyers have, it is said, been able to purchase over one million pounds of pooled tobacco in Central Kentucky principally from tenants who have, it is stated, been able to get their crops released from the pool on various pretenses similar to that above cited. Their operations have given these buyers the sobriquet of "Equity Busters," but the Society members say that their activity has strengthened instead of weakening the Equity cause.

Two Near-Republican States.

Republican national committeemen should give their best attention in the present campaign to Tennessee and Kentucky, where the political conditions suggest that a vigorous effort will bring important results. The electoral vote of the two states combined is more than that of Ohio and might easily decide an election. There are special reasons why Republican managers should be active in that quarter. In both states an extensive region is strongly Republican and never fails to give the party a large majority. The counties of the eastern part of Tennessee and Kentucky are as steadfastly and numerously Republican as a New England State, and the section forms a political wedge in the heart of the south, extending to Georgia. Tennessee Democrats, as the news of the day shows, are in a tumult of division, apparently on the subject of prohibition, but deeper cause, are at work and the bitter conflict between the wings of the party must be fought to a finish. Tennessee has prohibition now except in the cities of Memphis, Nashville and Chattanooga, and nearly all the counties of Kentucky have voted out saloons under a local option law. Democratic disension in the two states would be as fierce as ever if the liquor issue dropped out of the account altogether.

Kentucky chose a Republican governor at the last election, and the legislature selected at the same time though Democratic in consequence of gerrymandered districts, surprised the country by electing a Republican senator. A profound dissatisfaction with the Democratic party is shown by this incident and the feeling exists in other Southern states. But Kentucky and Tennessee have a large and devoted Republican party and the foundation is there for immediate results. The people of these states perceive that the Democratic attitude before the country is an injury to their general business interests and a bar to their progress. They are rich in minerals, fine timber and other forms of natural wealth, but their available capital compares poorly with that of adjacent Northern states. West Virginia, since it became Republican is going ahead of them in the matter of large investments and enterprises. A political party feeling itself to be an incubus, and hopelessly entangled in wrong policies, is certain to split up into warring factions, while its more thoughtful element as soon as old prejudices can be overcome will vote for a change to the party of competence and advancement.

The Tennessee Democrats could make a correct diagnosis of their party they would see that their violent quarrels are due to the conviction, general though unacknowledged, that the state is badly governed and suffers from its continued identification with a discredited party. Their latest national ticket is composed of two men who have been twice defeated before the people. Mr. Bryan hides his main paramount issues of the past. They are ghosts he dares not face. Yet the shouting over them at one time was as hysterical as witnessed in the Denver Convention. In 1896 Kentucky gave all its electoral votes except one to McKinley. In 1900 and 1904 it was again Democratic, but in 1908 it was Republican. A few years ago Tennessee elected a Republican governor but he was counted out by the Democratic Legislature. Bryan's majorities in Tennessee have not been heavy. Republican managers should reach for these states and also inform the federal officeholders therein that they will be cleaned out to a man if they do not stop their factional and childish foolishness.

Hints for the Sickroom.

Never whisper in a sickroom. Talk in a low tone, but distinctly, so that your patient can understand every word spoken. Nothing is so irritating to a sick person as hearing voices without being able to comprehend the subject under discussion.

Never shovel coal from a hod in the sick chamber. Bring the coal in wrapped in paper and lay paper and all on noise and dust.

Never air a room without first covering the patient.

Never tilt the sheets when making the bed so that the patient sitting never will catch the eddy of dust that always follows such an action.

Never under any circumstances tell a patient that he is dangerously ill.

Use the word "seriously" if it is absolutely necessary that he should be warned of his condition. Suggestion is frequently more powerful than medicine especially with hysterical people.

Never sit on the edge of a sick person's bed, and do not place your chair so that he must strain his eyes or turn his head in order to see you. Get directly in the range of his vision when his head is comfortably placed on the pillow, and stay there.

THE SECRET OF TRANSMISSION OF LIFE.

Vital Germs May Have Come From Another Planet To This.

During the time required to travel from one planet to another in our solar system, the germs of life certainly might retain their power of germination in the opinion of the illustrious physicist and Nobel prize winner, Prof. S. Arrhenius of the University of Stockholm who writes at length on the topic in the Monist. He does not mean that life could be transmitted from a planet outside our solar system to another; but he inclined to the belief that within the solar system we call our own, the phenomenon has occurred thus explaining what seems mysterious to so many—the existence of life here and now. We know for instance, that the suns in the universe—there are many so that the distance between them varies. We are even able to figure out that during the course of 1,000,000 years the course of 1,000,000 years some star probably has been about five times as close to us as our nearest stellar neighbor is at present. When we estimate that life has been present on our earth at least 100,000,000 years, we must admit that it also if little important if a planet should have to wait for the appearance of life a couple of million years after it has been ready to receive it.

In this way we bring the period required for the journey of life from one planet to another, or rather, from one planet to the nearest star, to 1800 years. One might doubt whether spores of bacteria or germs in general retain their patent life for such a period. It has been claimed that grains found in Egyptian sepulchers have shown capability of growth; but the sober critic has demonstrated that these statements are exceedingly questionable. Recently a French scientist, Boudin, stated that he had found spores of several kinds of bacteria in a Roman grave, which undoubtedly have retained their germinative power during 1800 years. This assertion, at any rate, does not seem unreasonable.—Current Literature.

SUMMARY OF PLATFORM ON WHICH REPUBLICANS ASK INDORSEMENT.

The American farmer's welfare is as important as that of wage-earners or capitalist. The Republican party in the past twelve years has aided the farmer in agriculture and in bringing to him the conveniences of rural life. Free rural mail delivery now reaches millions of our citizens, and we favor its extension until every community in the land receives the full benefits of the postal service.

We recognized the social and economic advantages of good country roads maintained more and more largely at public expense and less and less at the expense of the abutting owners. In this work we command the growing practice of state aid.

Nothing so clearly demonstrates the sound basis on which our commercial, industrial and agricultural interests are founded, and the necessity of promoting the present continued welfare through the operation of Republican policies, as the recent safe passage of the American people through a financial disturbance which if appearing in the midst of Democratic rule or the menace of it might have equalled the familiar Democratic panics of the past. We congratulate the people and hall with confidence the signs now manifest of a complete restoration of business prosperity in all lines of trade, commerce and manufacture.

The Republican party passed the Sherman anti-trust law over Democratic opposition, and enforced it after Democratic dereliction. But experience has shown that its effectiveness can be strengthened and its real objects better attained by such amendments as will give to the federal government greater supervision and control over, and secure greater publicity in the management of that class of corporations engaged in interstate commerce having power and opportunity to effect monopolies.

The Republican party declares unequivocally for a revision of the tariff by a special session of congress immediately following the inauguration of the next president.

In all tariff legislation the true principle of protection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries.

We favor the establishment of maximum and minimum rates, the maximum to be available to meet discriminations by foreign countries against American goods entering their markets, and the minimum to represent the normal measure of protection at homest be ever maintained.

Another Republican policy which me, generous provision for those who have fought the country's battles and for the widows and orphans of those who have fallen.

The Republican party will uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts, state and federal. We believe however that the rule of procedure in the federal courts with respect to the issuance of the writ of injunction should be more accurately defined by statute and that no injunction or temporary restraining order should be issued without notice, except where irreparable injury would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing thereafter should be granted.

The Republican party pledges its continued devotion to every cause that makes for safety and the betterment of conditions among railroad employers.

The Republican party recognizes the special needs of wage-workers generally, for their well-being means the well-being of all.

In the interest of the great mineral industries of our country, we earnestly favor the establishment of a bureau of mines and mining.

We approve the enactment of the railroad rate law and the vigorous enforcement of the statutes against rebates and discriminations.

We believe, however, that the interstate commerce law should be further amended so as to give railroads the right to make and publish traffic agreements subject to the approval of the commission, but maintaining always the principle of competition between naturally competing lines and avoiding the common control of such lines by any means whatever.

We favor such legislation and supervision as will prevent the future overissue of stock and bonds by interstate carriers.

We adhere to the Republican doctrine of encouragement to American shipping, and urge such legislation as will revive the merchant marine prestige of the country.

The many wise and progressive measures adopted at the recent session of congress have demonstrated the patriotic resolve of Republican leadership in the legislative department to keep step in the forward march to better government. Notwithstanding the indefensible filibustering of a Democratic minority in the house of representatives during the last session, many wholesome and progressive laws were enacted.

We favor the establishment of a postal savings bank system for the convenience of the people and the encouragement of thrif.

The Republican party is committed to the development of a permanent currency system, responding to our greater needs, and the appointment of the national monetary commission by the present congress, which will impartially investigate all proposed methods, insures the early realization of this purpose.

The Republican party has been for more than fifty years the consistent friend of the American negro.

We declare once more, and without reservation, for the enforcement, in letter and spirit of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution, which were designed for the protection and advancement of the negro, and we condemn all devices that have for their real aim his disfranchisement for reason of color alone, as unfair, un-American and repugnant to the supreme law of the land.

We call the attention of the American people to the fact that none of the great measures here advocated by the Republican party could be enacted and none of the steps here proposed could be taken under a Democratic administration or under one in which party responsibility is divided. The continuance of present policies, therefore, absolutely requires the continuance in power of that party which believes in them and which possesses the capacity to put them into operation.

GOVERNOR RIDES MULE IN BREATHITT COUNTY.

Makes Quick Trip Across Mountain To Dedicate New School.

Gov. Wilson rode a mule on his trip to Oakdale, where he helped to dedicate the Soul-Winner's College. He rode several miles on the mule, over rough roads, and he does not care for a mule as a means of locomotion.

He and McKenzie Todd, his secretary returned to Frankfort to-day from Breathitt county, where they spent a greater part of yesterday. The college, which they went to dedicate is not far from Oakdale, but it is necessary to ride across a mountain to reach the buildings. Mules furnish the only means of travel. They told Gov. Wilson that it was only three miles from the station at Oakdale to the college, but Mr. Todd says it is six miles and it took the party one hour and twenty minutes to get to the college after they left Oakdale. At that they made the mule go at top speed and kept him on the jump all the way.

1907 Burley May Sell for 25 cents

A movement is being considered looking to the placing of the price upon the 1907 crop, and at several points the raisers who have been kept out of their money by the trust refusing to pay, are talking of putting the price as high as 25 cents and starting the agitation of no crop in 1909, unless the stock on hand is taken up.

In Memory
Of Auntie Adams who departed this life at her home in Croydon, Ky., at 3:10 p. m. July 13th, 1908.

She shall sleep, but not forever.

In the cold and silent tomb,
We will meet her face to face,
On the resurrection morn,

She passed this life most contented,

While entering in to womanhood,
She told her friends she was ready and willing,

And had them promise to be good,
Her age was just now twenty,

'But he was called to go,
To dwell among the angels,

On that Celestial Shore.

Weep not for Stella.

We loved her, yes, we loved her,

To yonder shining shore.

The golden gates were opened.

A gentle voice said "come,"

And with farewells unspoken,

She calmly entered home.
